BOLDEN LOSES HIS MOTION TO UPSET VERDICT

A post-trial motion to upset the conviction of Abraham Bolden, 29, found guilty of attempting to sell a secret government file, was denied yesterday by Judge Joseph Sam Perry in federal District court.

In denying the motion, Judge Perry gave Bolden 10 days to post a $1,000 bond and to file notice of appeal with the court.

George W. Howard, Bolden's attorney, argued that the verdict should be upset because "the chief prosecution testimony came from convicted criminals." Bolden was convicted Aug. 11 in a retrial of his case. A jury in the first trial was unable to reach a verdict.
